

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A patient monitoring system incorporating a pneumatic switch which is responsive to a pair of pressure generators, including a first armable pressure generator which is attached to the patient and which is triggered upon movement of the patient
5 beyond a certain range and a second force actuated generator having a portion to which a patient applies pressure.